DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-5 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Tso et al. U.S. Patent 6,185,625.

Regarding claim 1, Tso et al. reference discloses (columns 5-6), a device that enables a user to view contents of an Internet image sent to the device as a compressed raster image such that the device has the ability to decompress the image.

Regarding claim 2, Tso et al. discloses (column 3-60) software that is able to translate said information from the Internet or World Wide Web (www) into a raster image and compress it and send that image to a remote location.

Regarding claim 3, Tso et al. discloses (column 6, lines 3-60) that it will enable the user to point and click on an image being displayed and then send the requested information to be displayed.

Regarding claim 4, Tso et al. discloses (column 6, lines 3-60) that the device will allow the user to scroll through the image.

Regarding claim 5, Tso et al. discloses (column 3-60) that the device can further allow the input of text and numbers and then send the information back to the host computer, which can further refresh the output device as needed.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Huttenlocher et al. U.S. Patent 5,884,014 discloses a fontless structured document image representation system for efficient rendering. Roy et al. U.S. Patent 5,966,135 discloses a computer implemented geographic information system that enables viewing a map picture that is generated from vector-based data. Kunkel et al. U.S. Patent 5,961,603 discloses a system and method for accessing Internet-based and other information through a user television in a television distribution network enables a user to access and view information which is related to the programming content of a currently viewed television broadcast. This concept, known as channel hyperlinking, enables a television viewer to download Internet Web page.
